HUNGARY

PERFORMANCE

"This decline over five years is, in part, due to the addition of 32 new countries in the 2012 Prosperity Index. In this instance, three of these new countries placed above Hungary."

- » Hungary ranks 41st in overall prosperity.
- » The Economy sub-index dropped seventeen places to 83rd, due to an increase in unemployment levels and non-performing loans, as well as drops in high-tech exports, 5-year GDP growth rates, and confidence in Financial Institutions.
- » The Education sub-index increased by ten places, to 22nd, due to an increase in the girls to boy ratio, a rise in net primary enrolment rates, and increases in gross secondary education enrolment.
